#1 - Thurston County Resource Hub Celebrates 1,000 Visitors!

Just over a year after its opening, the Thurston County Resource Hub is celebrating serving its one-thousandth visitor!

The Resource Hub (Hub) is the product of more than a year of work and collaboration between the Thurston County Board of County Commissioners, Pretrial Services, Public Defense, the Prosecuting Attorney's Office, District and Superior Courts, and Public Health and Social Services. The Hub opened as a drop-in center in June 2022 with the intent to serve community members who are justice-impacted. By quickly connecting people to resources, the Hub seeks to reduce repeat involvement in the justice system for individuals with behavioral health needs, and support the safety, health, and wellbeing of all Thurston County residents.

Trying to navigate the system can be a barrier to success for many. The Hub helps by directly connecting people to services they may need. Community members can drop-in or call the Hub to be connected to the following services:

- Behavioral Health
- Employment and/or Education
- Housing
- Public Benefits
- Legal Support
- Telehealth treatment for substance use disorders
- Clothing and food bank

"The most important function of the Hub is that the services and direction offered here are effective and meet the needs of any community member. When people come into the Hub, I tell them they are in the right place, and we ensure they leave with a plan," said Nate Block, the Resource Hub Program Manager.

The quick growth of the Resource Hub is a testament to its success, with some months seeing double the number of visits from the previous month. In the future, the county and partners hope to add additional partners and staff, and increase space to continue expanding services.

Commissioner Tye Menser added, "Reentry services are vital to an effective and equitable justice system. I have been a huge advocate for our county's Resource Hub as a common-sense way to help folks get their lives back on track and reduce burdens and costs to our courts and law enforcement agencies. I am pleased with the initial growth and development of the Hub, and I intend to help it grow even bigger and better in the future."

The Thurston Law Enforcement Assisted Diversion (LEAD) program celebrated its two-year anniversary this July. The LEAD program empowers individuals with substance use, mental health challenges, and/or extreme poverty to address their unmet needs in hopes of preventing entry into, or further involvement with law enforcement and the legal system. Being part of LEAD is voluntary and participants are supported by the team in meeting their self-identified goals.

LEAD is a referral-based case management program meeting people where they are without the expectation or requirement of abstinence. The program uses a harm-reduction approach, which focuses on dignity, honesty, and providing a judgement-free space. Participants have someone on 'their side' who has been there, a person who has experienced similar struggles and offers a kind word, rides to appointments, and assistance navigating community resources and systems.

To celebrate the accomplishments of the more than 370 individuals served since the program launched, we are hosting a celebration event on Friday, September 29, 2023, 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. at the Tumwater Historical Park picnic shelter. Please join us as we honor the work and accomplishments of our LEAD participants and the LEAD team.
