

THURSTON COUNTY FAMILY & JUVENILE COURT EX PARTE
FAMILY LAW EMERGENCY MOTIONS PROCESS
IN EFFECT DURING COVID-19 REDUCED OPERATIONS

What is the Process for Family & Juvenile Court Ex Parte Emergency Motions?

During Covid-19 reduced operations, the court conducts telephonic hearings each day to consider emergency motions in family law cases. This calendar is called “Emergency Motions in Family Law Cases (Ex parte calendar)”. The calendar is at 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Only emergency motions will be decided on this calendar.

What is Considered an Emergency?

You may schedule a motion on this docket only if you believe your motion is an emergency. On a case-by-case basis, the judicial officer will decide whether your situation qualifies as an emergency.

The following is a list of motions that may qualify as an emergency. Other types of motions may also qualify as an emergency:

- Motions for temporary restraining orders when personal safety is at risk;
- Motions for orders where there is an immediate risk to child safety or there is a risk of child abduction, including writs of Habeas Corpus, and related matters;
- Motions in which a person’s basic financial survival is at risk – for instance, the ability to maintain housing, pay for food or utilities, or have access to critical health care;
- Emergency motions on parenting issues where the health and safety of a child or adult is at risk due to Covid-19 or another reason.

Ex parte requests for protection orders are also heard by telephone every day at 1:30 pm on a different calendar. If you have questions about scheduling protection order hearings of any kind, please continue to work with the Clerk’s Office Domestic Violence Liaison (360) 709-3260 or county_clerk@co.thurston.wa.us.

The court has also developed three additional processes for certain non-emergency matters that can be addressed without a hearing. For that process, click here.

How do I Schedule an Emergency Ex Parte Motion at FJC?
